

YOU MAY SWEAR INSIDE THE STATE

Governor Vetoes Measure Which Prohibited
This Privilege In Public Places.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE'S TESTIMONY

Man Who Swore He Saw Money Given Members Of Legislature, Is Being Tried In The Dane County
Municipal Court Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 25.—Governor Davidson decided today that if a man wanted to swear he should have the privilege. In other words, he vetoed the bill which would have forced the man who swore a golf ball or who had been kicked by a mule from expressing his feelings in forcible language or what is legally named obscene language. Governor Davidson said that it was a foolish attempt of the legislature to enact purity in men's vocabulary. He also vetoed the bill to increase the power of insurance companies.

The Examination
The preliminary examination of F. T. Wagner, the private detective charged with perjury in testifying before the senatorial election investigation that he saw $25,000 in bribe money disbursed among three assemblymen began in the municipal court today. District Attorney Mason produced in evidence the sworn testimony of Wagner as to what he claimed he saw through a transom in a Milwaukee hotel.

Other Business
The senate killed the bill to prohibit duplication of telephone systems so as to eliminate local competition. By a vote of 19 to 25 the assembly adopted the memorial to congress to remove the tariff on print paper. The assembly began the long debate on the bill to make a million-dollar annual appropriation for the new capital.

Twelve big problems must be considered by the legislature before final adjournment can be effected. Under present conditions it is probable that the legislature will complete its work between the 15th and the 20th of June.

The more important questions to be considered are:
The university appropriation, bill and normal school appropriation bill, which have passed the senate and are now before the assembly.

The bill to hasten the construction of the new capital building, permitting an appropriation of $1,000,000 annually if the finances of the state will permit.

The Austin bill creating a board of five members with absolute power to investigate and revoke liquor licenses for cause.

A uniform fish and game bill which has been reported in the senate for passage.

The Chapple bill, which has already passed the assembly and will come before the senate on Thursday, which provides for the taxation of ore docks locally.

A bill permitting the state board of forestry to issue a certificate of indebtedness for $1,000,000.

Two good road bills and five substitutes regulating the method of state aid to highways.

Reports of the senatorial investigation committee with bills providing for reform in election laws.

The question of whether the office of state waterways commissioner shall be abolished.

Several bills for the abolition of the state fish and game wardens department with a substitute by Assemblyman Ingram for a modified county system pending.

The appointment of four special committees to consider before the special session of the legislature the subject of income tax, industrial insurance, guaranty of bank deposits and granting of franchises for water power.

The bill repealing the law permitting the construction of another big power dam on the Wisconsin river at Prairie du Sac.

So far few important bills have passed the legislature and the number that have been signed by the governor and said to be fewer than in any session of this length.

HITCH-RAIL IS AN ISSUE AT ELECTION

Liquor Or No-Liquor Question In Monroe, Co., Ind., Depends On Bloomington, Council's Action.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Bloomington, Ind., May 25.—All Monroe county is awaiting with considerable interest, if not apprehension, the outcome of today's election, which is to decide whether this town, which has been "dry" for some time, shall remain so or not. The interesting feature of the election is that the indignation of the citizens over the abolition of the time-honored hitch-rail around the court house is likely to affect the result of the election. In fact, the hitch-rail had been the main issue of the campaign and the citizens, particularly the farming element, had openly threatened to vote "wet" in case the annual convention of the cotton men's association refused to rebuild the abolished hitch-rail. It remains to be seen whether the hitch-rail faction has really carried out its threat or not.

BADGER HEMP PULP MAKES GOOD PAPER

Can Also Be Made Into Binder Twine and Is Guaranteed To Exterminate Weeds.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 25.—Several good grades of paper have just been manufactured by an eastern paper mill from hemp pulp grown in Wisconsin. Some of it was made by using the whole hemp stalk, and some by using 70 per cent of hemp and 30 per cent of wood fiber. The profitability of growing hemp for paper making has not as yet been thoroughly demonstrated, and a full report of the results will not be made until the close of the present season, during which experimental plots will be grown in various parts of the state. Good For Twine Fiber.

Even better results have just been obtained from tests of the hemp grown on the Mendota Hospital farm by the University of Wisconsin Experiment Station. The product of this field was put through the brake, and an excellent yield of fiber suitable for twine has been obtained. About 1,000 pounds of fiber per acre has been secured, which is considered an excellent yield, since the fiber is worth 7 cents a pound or $70 an acre, and the labor of producing it costs only $30, leaving a profit of $40 an acre. These preliminary tests show that good returns can be obtained from hemp crops in Wisconsin grown for fiber only.

Proves Great Weed Exterminator.
As an exterminator of quick grass, Canada thistle and mustard, hemp promises to be a great boon. Some of the experimental plots grown this year were upon land badly infested with these weeds. The rank growth of the hemp which reaches 10 to 12 feet in height, so thoroughly shaded the ground that when the land was broken after the crop had been removed, few weeds were left.

As there are large areas of good land in Wisconsin which are practically useless at the present time because of the Canada thistle, wild mustard, and quick grass, the growing of hemp at good profit to the farmer may result in reclaiming these waste lands.

NEGRO PUT ON TRIAL FOR BRUTAL MURDER

Case of John Junkin, Alleged Murderer
Of Clara Rosen At Ottumwa, Iowa,
Called In Circuit Court.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Centerville, Iowa, May 25.—The case of John Junkin, the negro who is alleged to have murdered Clara Rosen at Ottumwa, was called for trial today before Judge M. A. Roberts in the district court. The intense interest taken in the case was evidenced by a crowded courtroom. County Attorney Benson, Cornell appeared for the prosecution and Judge A. C. Mitchell for the defense.

Few murder cases in Iowa have attracted more attention than the killing of Clara Rosen, the young and beautiful daughter of an Ottumwa merchant. The body of the young woman was found by the public road side with evidence that she had been cruelly done to death after she had been robbed by her assailant. Within a few days after the murder the police arrested John Junkin, a negro with a bad reputation and who had not recently been released from prison. Public feeling in Ottumwa ran so high that a lynching seemed imminent. As a measure of precaution the negro was removed to the penitentiary at Ft. Madison for safe keeping. After his arrest Junkin is alleged to have made a full confession of the crime.

AMERICAN HORSES WILL RUN IN DERBY

American Colt, "Sir Martin", Backed
To Win By Americans, In English Races Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, May 25.—Interest in the Derby at Epsom Downs tomorrow is at fever heat. The fact that several American horses are entered in the great race has added to the popular interest in the event. Many bets are being placed on the American colt Sir Martin, owned by Louis Winans, who bought him from the American horseman, J. P. Madden.

Should an American horse win the Derby it would be almost without precedent. In all the 130 years of the famous contest the Derby has been won but once by an American-bred horse. This was in 1881, when Pheasant's colt, the Irish colt, finished first with Pheasant's second and Town Moor third.

The Epsom Derby, the most famous and highest prize of the so-called "classic" events of the English turf, has been raced for continuously since the year it was instituted, 1780, but in spite of its fame, it is not the oldest of the great English races, the St. Leger, first run in 1770, and the Oaks, for fillies three years old, a companion race to the Derby, first run in 1779, both antedating the event whose title has become a synonym for a supreme trial.

The first Derby, run over the turf course of Epsom Downs, over nearly the same ground that the race still is decided on, was won by Sir C. Bunbury's Diomed, a horse who later in life was sold out of England and imported to the United States, to become one of the most potent influences on the blood horse of America, Diomed, more than any other horse, figuring in the pedigrees of the American race-horse, and also being a fountainhead to which is traced the stoutest and fastest of the American trotters. Diomed's Derby was at a distance of one mile, but the race was increased to a mile and a half the next year.

The history of the Epsom Derby would amount to a history of the English turf since the famous event was instituted. Even in the present time, horses when half a dozen other races of greater value are annually fixtures on the English turf, it still is the highest ambition of the British turfman to win the Derby, an honor which has twice fallen to the lot of the present King of England, and which earlier in Derby records was earned five times by Lord Epsom, with Assagai, in 1782, Hannibal in 1803, Aristocrat in 1804, Election in 1807, and Laydon in 1825, and four times each by two other famous racing men, Sir J. Hawley having won four times, with Teddington, in 1851; Beadsmen, in 1858; Maudslayi, in 1859; and Blue Gown, in 1888, and the late Duke of Westminster having won the same number of times with Hind Or, in 1880; Shotover, the third filly to capture Derby honors, in 1882; the great son of Hind Or, Ormonde, in 1886, and with the one-hundred-and-eighty-six-thousand-dollar horse, Flying Fox, in 1900. In 1905 Lord Rosebery realized the ambition of years when his famous Cleo captured the classic event. One of the greatest disappointments to the English turfman was a few years ago when Richard Croker's Irish-bred colt Orby captured the Derby.

The fastest Derby ever run was that of 1906, when Major-General's Spaurmont was first in 2:30 1/4.

WILL BE SENT BACK TO WAUKESHA SOON

Earl Wheelock Must Return to Boys'
Industrial School—General Court News.

Earl Wheelock, the youth who jumped through the toilet room window of a train which was conveying him back to the Waukesha Industrial school, some eight months ago, is to be returned to the care of Superintendent H. J. Hays, by officers who found him at his mother's home on St. Mary's avenue Sunday afternoon. It appears that since taking French leave of the reform school officer young Wheelock has worked in Rockford and for the past few months in Janesville. The boy is but fourteen years of age and appears to take his return to Waukesha very hard.

Jose Austin was given a fine of $4.10 or seven days in jail with an alternative of leaving town, and took the latter, this morning, in municipal court. Jose Hays, who allowed his wife at their home, on Benton avenue, went to jail in default of the $1.10 fine and will spend a week in jail. Frank Storm, who was found drunk in an alley, went to jail for a week in default of a fine. Miss Adelaide McDonald, a lady of frail character, paid a fine of $12.00. Jack Conway, who was released this morning from a five days' sentence in jail for drunkenness, was picked up about noon by Officer Brown as he was about to roll into the river under the railroad bridge. He was locked up and will doubtless be sentenced tomorrow.

SOUTH MAIN STREET IS NOT TO BE PAVED TILL NEXT SEASON

Highway Improvements, Sidewalks, And Sewers Engrossed Attention of Common Council
Last Evening.

Highway improvements again monopolized the attention of the common council last evening. By the terms of an order introduced by Ald. Kimball, the work of paving South Main street from St. Lawrence avenue to Racine street, was postponed until December 1, 1909, property owners being given an opportunity, in the meantime, to construct the cement curb and gutters in conformity with the plans and specifications prepared for the said work. The engineer's plans for gas, water, and sewer service pipes along that thoroughfare were adopted and the pipes were ordered laid. Mr. Korcia's plans for service pipes on Racine street, from South Main to Logan street, were also approved and the pipes ordered laid at the expense of the property owners. Directions were given to the engineer to file plans for a storm sewer to be laid on Racine street from South Main street to Garfield avenue, and an estimate of the cost.

A resolution providing for the improvement of Division street from East Milwaukee street to Court street and from St. Lawrence avenue to Oakland avenue with cement gutters and curbs and directing the street assessment committee to apportion the benefits and damages was passed without opposition, but Ald. Kimball's colleagues called a halt on his resolution providing for the improvement of Jackson street, from Milwaukee avenue to South Third street with macadam, curbing, and gutters, on the ground that all would be liable to a $50 fine for voting improvements exceeding in cost, to the ward, the amount of money remaining in the ward fund. Ald. Brown also called attention to the fact that it was not yet known whether or not the street car line on Jackson street was to be resuscitated. Ald. Kimball said that it was the intention to actually make the improvement this year but that the measure was offered in order to open the way for a resolution providing for the laying of the water, gas, and sewer pipes there this year. He admitted that the work on Racine street this season would consume most of the available fund and finally withdrew the Jackson street resolution. Measures providing for the improvement of Shields, South Second, and South Third streets which he had also expected to introduce, were withheld and will probably not come up for consideration until the tax levy has been made and more money is available.

Resolutions providing for the improvement of Washington street from the south side of Racine street to the south side of Mineral P. avenue, and Madison street, from the north side of Racine street to the south side of Jackson street, by grading work, making, cement gutters and curbs, and directing the street assessment committee to apportion the benefits and damages were introduced by Ald. Clark and passed. Similar action was taken regarding Ald. Evans' resolution providing for the improvement of West Third street from North Academy to Terrace street, with gutters and curbing and directing the committee to assess benefits and damages.

The assessment of the benefits accruing from the proposed improvement of Washington street from Mineral Point avenue to Linden avenue was adopted. The city and ward will pay $234.90 of the cost and the tax against Mercy hospital will be $158.60.

Sidewalks.
The highway committee was granted further time for the consideration of the report of the street assessment committee recommending that W. J. Hill be awarded the contract for building, according to official specifications, such cement walks as might be ordered by the city this season. Further time was also granted for the consideration of the grade submitted for Division street, from Milwaukee to N. First street, high-walk grades for the north side of Division street, from Augusta street to Fifth avenue, and for the east side of East street from Court street to St. Lawrence avenue, were accepted. The park committee was authorized to build a walk around the fountain in the court house park and provide cups.

The street commissioner was directed to build brick crosswalks across Richardson street, on the east side of St. Mary's avenue; across South Academy street on the north side of Calena street; across Chestnut street on the south side of Washington street; across Fourth avenue on the north side of Prospect avenue; across S. Third street on the east side of Jackson street; across the alley on the west side of Terrace street, between Mineral Point avenue and Elizabeth street; across Race street on the east side of Jackson street; and across Wall street on the west side of Academy street.

The same official was directed to build brick crosswalks across Richardson st., on the east side of St. Mary's ave.; across S. Academy st., on the north side of Calena st.; across Chestnut st., on the south side of Washington st.; across Fourth ave., on the north side of Prospect ave.; across S. Third st., on the east side of Jackson st.; across the alley on the west side of Terrace st., between Mineral Point ave. and Elizabeth st.; across Race street on the east side of Jackson st.; and across Wall st. on the west side of Academy st.

The same official was directed to serve notice on the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co., the owner of lot 6, block 36, original plat to build a walk across the tracks on N. Main street and as far as the Lappin estate; to build a walk and apron on the north side of S. Third street 24 feet west from the curb line on East st.; also to build a walk to run north 14 ft. from the curb line on S. Third st. to connect with the foregoing; also to build one from the curb line on Wisconsin st. east 33 ft. and from the curb line on S. Third st. to run north 14 ft. to connect with the foregoing, also to put a new apron over the gutter on S. Third st. and at the southwest corner of the Jefferson school grounds.

Owing to the fact that the passage of the order might necessitate the building, in some instances, of four to eight foot retaining walls, an order authorizing the owners of property on the west side of Logan st., between Shuron and Wheeler sts., to build 45-foot sidewalks and stipulating that such walks be placed one foot from the property line (at the same time rescinding an order passed April 17, 1908) was referred to the highway committee. Permission was given to owners of property on the south side of Wall street, between Madison and Terrace streets, to build 45-foot walks. The order passed on

Oct. 12, last, establishing the curb line on Fifth avenue at a distance of 12 feet from the property line was rescinded and the same was established at a distance of 14 feet.

Gutters and Gutters.
In addition to the sewer work already authorized for the year, a resolution was passed providing for extensions on Caroline st., from Glen to Hyatt st., in District 11, and on Pence Court, from Main st. to the east boundary line of District 10. Further time was taken for the consideration of a proposed extension in District 11.

The city clerk was directed to serve notice on the owners of the six inch private sewer on Court street to extend the outlet of the city sewer under direction of the city engineer and the street commissioner was directed to attend to the matter and change the cost to the said owners, in case the notice should not be complied with inside of 10 days.

City Engineer Kersh and the aldermen of the First ward were directed to negotiate for a right of way across lot 10, stump & Smith's addition, for a storm sewer to carry the water away from Maple Court.

Street Commissioner Watson was directed to clean and deepen the gutter on the north side of Wall street, from Washington to Terrace st.; clean the gutters in the Fifth ward; clean the gutters on S. Main st. and repair all improved streets in the Third ward; remove the obstructions on South Chatham street, north of Western ave.; in front of certain lots in Smith's addition; and repair Washington and Racine sts. and Mineral Point ave.

Miscellaneous.
The Mineral Lumber Co. was granted the use of the streets for removing a factory building on Eastern ave. and Detroit road to the factory site of the Caloria Co. Further time was granted to the lighting committee for the consideration of a petition for an electric light at the corner of Olive and Washington streets. The city clerk was given authority to purchase one carload of paving blocks and two carloads of paving bricks. An order directing that the $1,000 insurance on the stone crusher be renewed for a year was passed. The bonds of Mulholland & Son, sewer contractors; Claude E. Cochrane, plumber; and the Recorder Printing Co., were found in due form and approved.

REFORM LEGISLATION
The Wisconsin legislature has been so busy during the session with investigations that but little has been accomplished. No effort has been made to reform the primary law except to provide that a voter must be loyal to his party and also to furnish him with a pocket ballot which gives him an opportunity to do as he pleases.
The primary law may be all right in theory, but like many other theories it is all wrong in practice. Instead of interesting a large majority of the voters it only interests a fraction of them, and results in minority rule whenever more than two candidates seek the same office.
The fact is overlooked that politics is a good deal like theology, and while men like to feel that they are independent, the average man takes direction through organization, and anything which demoralizes the organization of either church or party is harmful in results.
This is exactly what the primary law does to all political parties and so much ignorance prevails that the average voter knows nothing about the state officers except possibly the head of the ticket.
The republican ticket in the primary election last fall contained the names of a dozen men who were not known outside of their home locality, and in many cases voters declined to vote because of ignorance. If a candidate spent money to make himself known he was accused of extravagance.
The primary law was designed to perpetuate men in office, and the army of game wardens and other civil service protected attitudes was a necessary adjunct to the worst machine that ever cursed the state.
A squad of these men could be massed and thrown into any locality on short notice for political work, as was the case when forty game wardens invaded the late Congressman Habcock's district, three years ago.
The state was free from political corruption until the primary law and other reform movements was introduced. It is about time to call a halt and reform the reformers.

TWO BOOTBLACKS AND BUSINESS.
A magazine writer tells the story of two bootblacks who were soliciting trade on a crowded thoroughfare one Saturday afternoon.
The two boys had no regular stand. Each had his box slung over a shoulder, and they stood near the curbstone crying their business to the passers-by.
But there was a difference in the boys.
Each had his cry, composed of four words, and never varied it.
The first boy cried out, "Shine your shoes here!"
The second boy solicited his custom by shouting, "Get your Sunday shine!"
Note the difference?
The cry of the first boy announced the simple fact that he was in the shoe shining business for any one who should desire his services.
The second boy's cry was more significant. It was Saturday afternoon. The hour was 4 o'clock. The cry carried with it the fact that tomorrow was Sunday and it probably would be a pleasant day; that he (the bootblack) knew an extra shine was needed; that he who went to church or walked in the parks on the morrow owed it to his self respect to present a good appearance, and, lastly, that he was there to do the business.
Do you see why the second boy got the larger share of the business?
He had imagination. He linked facts together. He conveyed suggestions. His cry told all the other boy said—and more.
There is in the incident an object lesson in the problem of modern business.
Imagination in business is money.
The successful merchant uses it. He projects his imagination in such a way as to reach the mind of his customers and by suggestion causes them to buy his wares.
The inventor can do nothing without imagination, nor the promoter, nor the engineer, nor the architect or builder. The professional man must have imagination. Even the farmer or breeder needs it.
And yet—
Occasionally you hear of a parent who does not want his child to read fairy stories or believe in Santa Claus. He is a practical man himself, and he wants his children taught practical things, etc.
He fails to see the large place occupied by the imagination.
The man who is without imagination mixes much of the pleasure in life. He dreams no dreams. Unseen things of beauty are not for him. Besides, he misses a big asset in business.

LIFE INSURANCE TAXES
The Northwestern Life Insurance company is seeking relief from unjust taxation and is entitled to a hearing. If there is any argument which justifies the taxing of a mutual life insurance company it has never been advanced.
Mutual life insurance means exactly what the word implies. It means that every dollar collected, after paying necessary expenses, and every dollar in property held in reserve is the money and property of the policyholders, not a fraction of them who happen to be officers of the company, but all of them.
The premium paid by these policyholders is as sacred as a savings bank deposit, and no more entitled to taxation than a bank account, and yet the state compelled these policyholders to pay a tax of over $300,000 last year, or 14 per cent on their savings.
That's all there is to taxing mutual life insurance companies. The proposition is too absurd to command intelligent attention.

A GOOD MOVE
The Business Men's association of Middletown, N. Y., at a meeting held recently adopted in part the following resolutions:
Resolved, That we, the members of the Business Men's association of the city of Middletown, N. Y., do hereby pledge ourselves as corporations, firms or individuals to maintain the following regulations relative to donations and advertising after May 6, 1909:

First.—To discontinue absolutely the giving of merchandise or cash to fairs, bazaars or similar undertakings.
Second.—To discontinue the purchase of tickets to entertainments, balls or other social functions on solicitation.
Third.—To discontinue advertising in any publication other than legitimate newspapers and periodicals recognized as such.
The signers of this agreement and resolution further pledge and bind themselves to mutually assist each other to carry out the purposes here-in stated and to abide by the terms of this agreement, and each signer promises and agrees that he will pay the sum of $10 to the treasurer of the association if he in any way violates the provisions of this agreement.

The Milwaukee school board, in spite of protests from bankers and businessmen, persists in demanding that the travesty on penmanship known as "vertical writing" shall continue to be taught in the public schools. As a result if the boys of Milwaukee are ever taught to write it will be after they get out into life for themselves, and the chances are against them. Vertical writing is about as practical as simplified spelling.
Senator Dolliver of Iowa, who has been showing symptoms of weakness, swung back into line and voted with the conservatives yesterday on the lumber tariff. It is safe to assume that the large majority of republican senators who are working together on tariff amendments are giving the question intelligent consideration, and the people can afford to wait for the finished product before criticising too freely.

If you have any relatives in Mars you will be able to communicate with them in September, when the Milwaukee balloon enthusiasts make a trip in that direction. They plan to go up 10 miles when they expect to be in hailing distance.
The state license fee on automobiles has been doubled, and the tax which ornaments the back of the machine will now cost $2. The increased income should be placed to the credit of the good roads fund.

No more beer at weddings is the edict of half a dozen pastors of Holiland churches at Muskegon, Michigan. The temperance movement is progressing.

Resolved, That we, the members of Economy is to be the watchword of the new administration, and when the budgets are all in for 1910 they are expected to show a reduction of $100,000,000. The government has too many public crabs, and too many purchasing agents. More business methods and less red tape is needed.

Prisoner Was Not Affected.
Shortly after his rise to the bench, Judge Coleman of San Francisco had occasion to pronounce a life sentence upon a notorious offender. In the course of his remarks the judge spoke with so much feeling and eloquence that many of the listeners were deeply affected. The prisoner, on the other hand, seemed to be quite indifferent, looking at the ceiling and apparently giving no attention whatever to what was being said. After he had been remanded to jail one of the young lawyers had gone into the cell, curious to know how the criminal had felt when his honor was passing sentence upon him. "What do you mean?" asked the convicted one. "I mean when the judge was telling you you must go to prison for life." "You mean when he was talking to me?" "Yes." "Oh, I never paid no attention to Dick Coleman; he ain't no public speaker, no how!"

TYPEWRITER IN TRUNK
Handy Combination for Authors and Traveling Salesmen.
A combination trunk that is a veritable portable office has been invented by a New York woman. When closed it makes an ordinary square trunk, of substantial build. When open it reveals a set of pigeon holes and a typewriter. The typewriter is fastened to one side of the trunk, which is hinged in the middle and folds outwardly. A drawer part, which is also hinged to fold in or out, is divided into compartments so that it is equally adaptable for use as a little desk, the compartments forming pigeon holes, or for holding collars, pens, time, toilet articles, etc. For writers or traveling men such a trunk is of the greatest convenience. The former can sit from spot to spot and whenever they find time for their work, set up their typewriter in their hotel room. The latter can always have on hand a supply of letter heads, envelopes, etc., and a machine on which to make clear and complete records to headquarters.

DUTY FOR LUMBER, SENATE DECISION

THE SENATE KILLS M'CUMBER AMENDMENT PROVIDING FOR FREE IMPORT.

HEYBURN DRAWS CRITICISM

His Attack on the Republican Platform, Not Relished by His Party. Colleagues—Philippine Tariff Bill Passed by the House.

Washington, May 25.—The United States senate has decided that lumber shall not be free of duty. The decision followed a lively contest in the upper branch of the nation's law making body.

Senators Root, Heyburn, Borah and Dooliver contended on the one hand for a protection for the industry, and Senator Clapp, Burkett and McCumber argued as strenuously against that policy.

The day closed with more than a two-thirds vote against Senator McCumber's free lumber amendment, the ballot showing 25 for and 50 against. Dooliver's Attitude a Surprise.

The great surprise was the attitude of Senator Dooliver, who heretofore has stood with the "progressives" throughout the present tariff fight. He took positive position against the radical demand for free lumber, but expressed the opinion that the industry would not suffer from a reduction of the Dingley rates.

Senator Root opened the proceedings with a close argument in favor of a differential on dressed lumber. Senators Borah and Heyburn of Idaho, contended for the highest duty on lumber, and Senator Borah entered upon an argument to show that the policy of protection is "a system" and cannot be maintained if there are to be constant exceptions to it as is desired in the interest of free lumber.

On the other hand, Senators Clapp and Burkett argued that lumber can be produced as cheaply in Canada as in the United States, and contended that the lumber industry of this country would not be endangered by the free admission of the Canadian product. Incidentally Senator Clapp paid a glowing tribute to the Canadian government, saying it was equal to the best.

Heyburn Raps Party Platform. Senator Heyburn spoke of the Republican platform of the last campaign in a way that brought down some criticism on his head, and Senator Bailey declared that he did not propose to be bound by the platform adopted by the Democrats at Denver.

Senator Bailey made a speech of some length towards the close of the session, in which he expressed the opinion that enactment of the pending tariff bill would see the disintegration of the Republican party.

Senator Owen made a sharp attack upon the present tariff on sugar, saying it led to frauds by a "trust." Senator Aldrich introduced a resolution providing for an investigation of the expenditures of the various legislative departments.

Putting his foot squarely down on free lumber as not compatible with the principles of protection, Senator Dooliver declared he believed the lumber industry could readily stand a reduction from the Dingley rates.

House Passes Philippine Bill.

The Republicans of the house again took matters in their own hands, and with a sudden show of strength passed the Philippine tariff bill, the consideration of which had been concluded two weeks ago, referred the message of the president regarding Porto Rican affairs to the committee on ways and means and devoted some time to a discussion of the bill amending the laws of Porto Rico so as to divest the legislature of certain authority.

Mr. Larrigan, the Porto Rican commissioner, vigorously opposed the bill affecting the island, represented by him and denounced the executive council or upper branch of the legislature of Porto Rico.

PRISON TERMS FOR SARGENTS.

American Woman and Husband Cruel to Children in France.

Paris, May 25.—On the charge of having maltreated young children confined to their care, Cecil H. Sargent, an Englishman, and his American wife, were found guilty in the correctional court. Sargent was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and his wife to 13 months' imprisonment. In addition, a small fine was imposed on each of the defendants.

Witnesses testified that the Sargents had beaten the children and deprived them of food. One of the last witnesses, Mme. Marchal of Brussels, declared that she had confided her child to the Sargents five years ago and until recently had not heard any tidings of it. In a burst of ungovernable fury she threw herself at the throat of Mrs. Sargent and tried to strangle her. Guards with difficulty pulled the enraged woman away.

A curious development was a claim set up by a woman from Versailles that the Marchal child was hers. Pending a solution of this, the court ordered that the child be kept in the municipal orphanage.

Launch Sinks; Seven Drown. Sao Paulo, Brazil, May 25.—A steam launch in which Julius Jacobson, a representative of the General Electric Company of New York, and 15 others were making a trip on the river Tiete, ran into a sunken rock and was wrecked. Jacobson and six of the other excursionists were drowned.

ILLINOIS SUPREME JUDGE DIES.

Guy C. Scott Succumbs After Operation for Appendicitis.

Springfield, Ill., May 25.—Guy C. Scott, justice of the supreme court, died at Chasburg, where he went to submit to an operation for appendicitis. Gov. Dennon received a message, telling of the death of Justice Scott, who was a Democrat and one of two Democratic justices on the bench.

Justice Scott first was elected to the supreme bench June 1, 1903. His home was in Alton, Monroe county. He was 40 years old and prominent in Democratic circles. During his service as a supreme justice he wrote many important decisions. Justice Scott was a native of Henderson county and had been practicing law since 1880. He succeeded himself three times as mayor of Alton.

In the house Representative Chisfield presented resolutions of sympathy.

QUAKE SUFFERERS IN RIOT.

Six Killed as They Attack Barracks—Mauls Shaken Again.

Mexico, May 25.—One of the most riotous shocks since the great earthquake occurred here yesterday. The population fled panic-stricken and the walls of the ruins in various places collapsed.

At Sanpiti, a small village near Saint Eufemia, the populace became enraged over the manner in which they have been neglected in the distribution of relief to the earthquake sufferers. They made a hostile demonstration against the authorities and attacked the barracks. Several soldiers were wounded and a volley was fired into the rioters, killing six of them and wounding several others.

MAY SETTLE THE FIREMEN'S STRIKE

LABOR COMMISSIONER NEILL ACTS IN GEORGIA RAILROAD TIE-UP.

OTHER LINES THREATENED

Diversions of Freight Business May Cause More Union Men to Quit—Government Plans to Haul the Mails in Automobiles.

Atlanta, Ga., May 25.—Charles F. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, arrived in the city today and at once took steps to settle the firemen's strike which has completely tied up traffic on the Georgia railroad. Gov. Smith proposed arbitration by a commission of Georgians and the firemen accepted, but the railroad did not. Manager Scott of the Georgia railroad, however, informed Gov. Smith that he will be here today to confer with Mr. Neill.

May Spread to Other Roads. The danger that the strike if prolonged may spread to other railroads became serious when Vice-President Ball of the firemen's organization said diversion of the Georgia railroad's freight business to other roads will cause the firemen of those roads to vote on whether they will accept diverted freight. It was reported that about 100 cars of Georgia railroad had been diverted over other lines.

Mails and passengers usually carried by the Georgia went by other roads, and in a few instances automobile service was resorted to. Preparations are under way by post office authorities to establish an automobile mail service between Union Point and Athens, Ga.

Why No Trains Are Run.

Conflicting reports as to why no trains ran yesterday were spread here. Several of the Georgia railroad engineers were reported by the strikers to be willing to take their trains out in the day time, although refusing at night because of the hazard of being stoned after dark. The strikers claim that the railroad officials in failing to provide strike breakers for these engineers were trying to put the situation in a worse light than it warrants. The officials, however, said it was both impossible and dangerous to run trains.

No further acts of violence were reported.

Canadian Strike Ends.

Winnipeg, Man., May 25.—It was announced here that the strike of the coal miners which has been affecting nearly all of the mines of Southern Alberta and Eastern British Columbia for the past three months has been settled by the board of conciliation, appointed by the government under the Lemieux act, assisted by board members of the United Mine Workers of America, sent from Idaho, Washington, and Oregon. The terms arrived at are those agreed to at the first conference to which District President Sherman objected although approved by the votes of the miners' lodges and against which Sherman ordered the strike.

Threaten Strike in Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., May 25.—A street car strike is threatened in this city, all efforts to avert a crisis seeming to have failed with a conference of the Central Labor union representatives and Southern Indiana Traction Company's officers.

IOWA MAYOR SHOT BY BURGLAR.

Cedar Rapids Executive Badly Wounded in Battle with Thief.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 25.—A series of sensational burglaries came to a climax in this city when an unknown thief shot and dangerously wounded Mayor John T. Carmody. Previous to entering Carmody's house the burglar robbed Father J. J. Toomey's home, covering the priest with his revolver. While the police were investigating the Toomey affair the burglar entered the Carmody home two blocks distant. The mayor was aroused, grappled with the intruder and was shot in the abdomen. Carmody continued to fight, but finally fell exhausted at the bottom of the stairs, while his assailant escaped.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN CALIFORNIA. Photo copyright 1909 by Portals Festival Committee.

San Francisco.—From among pictures of 2,000 beautiful California girls the executive committee of the Portals festival at San Francisco has selected that of Miss Virginia Bogue as representing the most beautiful girl in California, and her head will be on the poster for the carnival to be held in San Francisco in October. Miss Bogue is the daughter of Virginia Bogue of San Francisco, vice president of the Western Pacific Railway company. She was born in California and is 22 years old. She is a musician, an athlete, and is one of the most splendid types of women. She has written two books that will shortly be put on the market. Miss Bogue is about five feet 10 inches in height, splendidly proportioned, with an exceedingly graceful carriage. She is of the brunette type, with large, dark eyes. The committee which made the selection is composed of San Francisco business men and they labored hard and long over their task.

Monarch Light Touch

A typewriter is not an automatic machine with a fixed output; the amount of work produced must always be dependent upon the operator.

The operator begins work in the morning with a certain supply of physical energy. With the ordinary heavy working typewriter she exhausts that energy before the day's end—then comes "three o'clock fatigue" and slow, dragging work.

Monarch Light Touch lightens the operator's load—draws less on her energy per folio. The result is that the operator is able to maintain full speed right up to closing time, finishing fresh and strong. Her efficiency is increased, the output of her machine is enlarged, and consequently the per folio cost of typewriting to her employer is reduced.

Let us demonstrate this and other Monarch features to you.

CAPT. ROGER DRESNAHAN OF THE ST. LOUIS TEAM "BALLING" OUT A BALL THIEF IN THE RIGHT WING OF THE GRANDSTAND AT CHICAGO'S WEST SIDE PARK.

Chicago.—During the sojourn of the St. Louis team in Chicago an interesting episode occurred which showed the captain of the St. Louis team in a new light. In the right wing of the Cub's park Bresnahan recognized a ball thief and lost no time in telling the crowd about it. Thus humiliating the man, he accomplished results which the police authorities are unable to get.

SUPREME COURT TO PUNISH SHERIFF FOR CONTEMPT

Dignity of the Nation's Highest Tribunal Will Be Asserted in Shipp Case.

Washington, May 25.—The supreme court of the United States will assert its dignity next Tuesday when it decides what shall be the punishment for six Tennesseans found guilty of contempt.

The proceeding will take place in connection with the cases of Sheriff Shipp and Deputy Sheriff Gibson of Hamilton county, Tennessee, and of four other residents of that county, Williams, Nolan, Padgett and May. These men were declared by the court to be guilty of an act of contempt in combining in 1906 in a conspiracy to lynch a negro named Johnson, who had been sentenced to death by the local courts on conviction of felonious assault, and in whose case the supreme court had interfered to the extent of granting an appeal on a writ of habeas corpus, which had been denied by the United States circuit court, and which had the effect of a supersedeas.

On the night following the announcement of the court's action, March 19, 1906, Johnson was taken out of the jail in Chattanooga by a mob and lynched. There was no resistance on the part of the jail authorities and Shipp and deputies, as well as about twenty citizens were proceeded against on the charge of contempt of the federal court.

The case is regarded as of exceptional interest because it is practically the first time that the highest court in the United States has ever undertaken to assert its dignity or to repress acts or words reflecting upon it.

St. Joseph, Mo., May 25.—Arrangements are under way between state employment bureaus of Missouri and Illinois to bring 1,000 young women to St. Joseph from Chicago to work in the garment factories. It is impossible to secure women enough in this vicinity, though about 6,000 are ready employed.

President Gets Many Gifts.

George F. Parker, in his reminiscences of Mr. Cleveland, in McClure's Magazine for March, tells of the enormous number of gifts sent to a president. After his first term Mr. Cleveland insisted on going through his vast collection, and in describing the incident Mr. Parker says: "Upon unlocking the disused room into which perhaps ten or twelve thousand separate articles had been cast, we might well have thought ourselves in a photographic warehouse. There must certainly have been between six and seven thousand photographs."

ONLY STATUE EVER ERECTED TO THE MEMORY OF AN INDIAN WAS UNVEILED MAY 13TH

Oakdale, Ia., On May 13 the heroic statue of Chief Mahaska was dedicated in the city park here with appropriate exercises under the direction of Improved Order of Red Men of the Iowa reservation. This is the only statue in the world erected to the memory of an Indian and this fact, coupled with the prominence given the event by the state and national organizations of the Red Men has attracted attention all over the United States.

The statue is of bronze, over nine feet high, and is the work of an Iowa artist, Sidney Fry of Creston. It won several prizes while on exhibition in Paris, and is said by critics to be one of the most life-like statues ever made. The statue is a gift to the people of Oakdale by Hon. J. D. Edmondson of Des Moines in honor of his father, William Edmondson, one of the organizers of Mahaska county, and the first sheriff ever elected here. Visitors and Redmen will come by special and regular trains from all over the state and it is estimated that at least 50,000 visitors will be present.

The address in behalf of the town and of Mr. Edmondson were made by Major John F. Lacey and Carl Keuhule of Denison, Ia., responded in behalf of the Redmen, Maj. S. H. M. Myers of Des Moines read a poem, entitled "Mahaska."

The statue occupies a commanding place in the park and faces westward, looking into the great beyond, where the vanishing Red Men of the forest are wending their eternal way.

Intricate Carvings in Ivory.
Collectors of ivory groups and carved figures have the satisfaction of knowing that their treasures will increase in value rather than otherwise; for despite the efforts made to preserve big game, elephant ivory sets scarcer and dearer. Heads—real portraits and typical mementoes of people almost forgotten—are difficult to collect, yet that comparatively little known potentia the art of Afghanistan is said to possess the finest collection in the world. The great sculptors of the Renaissance worked in ivory. Cellini and Raphael gaining great proficiency in it. In the sixteenth century Augsburg and Nuremberg were especially noted for it. It is, however, from the east—India, Persia, China—that the most intricate carving comes.

DR. COCHRAN HITS STATE SCHOOLS

UNIVERSITIES "GODLESS" DE-CLARES SPEAKER IN THE PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY.

WHY PASTORS ARE SCARCE

No Grace Said Over Champagne and Running of Steam Yachts Not Training for Ministry Says Dr. Cochran at Denver.

Denver, Col., May 25.—Dr. Joseph W. Cochran, secretary of the Presbyterian board of education, caused a sensation in the Presbyterian general assembly when he uttered these epigrams:

"Students for the ministry do not as a rule get their early training by running steam yachts."

"Family altars are not raised over Jordan rugs."

"Grace is not usually said over champagne and lobster a la Newburg."

Deplores Lack of Recruits.

Dr. Cochran, who is from Philadelphia, spoke on the report of the board of education which deplored the lack of recruits for the ministry. The report was read by Dr. Edgar P. Hill of Chicago, who stirred the assembly by his description of the ignorance among immigrants, due, he said, to the fact that no Protestant denomination, and surely not the Presbyterian, has taken the trouble to stir up a sufficient number of ministerial recruits to work among the people.

"Why can't we get the young men to preach?" asked Dr. Cochran. "I'll tell you. In the first place, there is but little Christianity in the home. If there is any it is gone by the time the young man is ready for an education."

"Godless State University."

"Does he go for his education to a Christian school?" a Presbyterian school? No, he goes to a Godless state university, and when he returns to his home town he puts religion at low ebb. And if you ministers find your churches at low ebb, know where to place the blame."

"The need in this board of education is not for more money, but for men. Now we cannot Christianize these state universities, but we can put a shepherd in charge and in this way keep these boys in the flock, although they are being educated in Godless schools."

Hot Debate on Agencies.

The report of the special committee on administrative agencies brought on a hot debate. The report as read by Dr. J. D. Moffatt of Pittsburg, president of Washington and Jefferson college, recommended that the various boards of the church seek legal advice to ascertain the possibility of enlarging the administrative powers with a view toward consolidation with other boards.

Lack of funds was told of by the American Tract society and the board of Freedmen in their annual reports. Dr. Judson Swift of New York, secretary of the tract society, said the society could do five times as much work with twice as much money as it received now.

"Even the board of Foreign Missions has come to us," he said. "The board wants us to print an arithmetic for the people of Uganda. I suppose the people of Uganda want to compute the number of lions, tigers and giraffes slain by our beloved former president."

SLAIN AS HE IS PRAYING.

Missouri Boy Killed by Brother-in-Law at Church Services.

Kennett, Mo., May 25.—While kneeling in prayer at church services at Europa schoolhouse, 15 miles southwest of here, Henry Culp was shot and killed by his brother-in-law, Charles Champ, 18 years old. A posse of citizens headed by the sheriff is searching for Champ.

Culp killed Harry Champ, brother of the slayer, last August after having been driven from home by the Champ brothers. He was acquitted, the jury deciding his act was justifiable.

Langford an Easy Winner.
London, May 25.—Sam Langford, the colored heavyweight of Boston, knocked out Jim Haggin, the heavyweight champion of England, in the fourth round at the National Sporting club. The fight, which was for a purse of $9,000 and the championship, was scheduled to go 20 rounds. The bout between Jimmy Walsh, the American, and "Digger" Stanley of London was declared a draw.

Mrs. Sully in Contempt.
New York, May 25.—Application to adjudge in contempt of court Mrs. Daniel J. Sully, wife of the former cotton operator, was made in the supreme court. She is alleged to have been in contempt in failing to appear for examination in connection with a suit for $400 brought against her by a Fifth avenue jeweler.

Taft Wins in Golf Match.
Washington, May 25.—President Taft and Gen. Clarence B. Edwards, U. S. A., won a foursome by two up from Vice-President Sherman and Senator Bourne of Oregon in a golf match played at the Chevy Chase links.

Kills Himself in Versailles.
Versailles, May 25.—Edward Sanford of New York committed suicide at a hotel. He shot himself twice in the head with a revolver. His act is attributed to ill-health and financial worries.

Embroideries for the Summer Gowns

Is this announcement timely?

Indeed It Is.

Just now many women are planning and making summer garments and embroideries enter largely into their construction. We have a most beautiful collection: scarce things, novelties; that we secured by buying early. The following gives an idea of some of the leading numbers.

Embroideries

In the new embroideries bold open-work patterns are very much in demand. Wide flouncings and bands are widely used for making entire lingerie dresses which will be very much in vogue this spring and summer.

Matched Set

Narrow edgings and insertions to match in Swiss, nainsook and Hamburg. Fine dainty patterns, 1 1/2 to 3 inches wide, 12 1/2c to 20c a yard.

SHADOW STRIPE AND CHECK

Something new in embroidery is the shadow stripe or check, in fine sheer Swiss. Very desirable for trimming fine undermuslins. Edgings and insertion to match, 4 to 6 inches wide, 30c to 50c a yard.

WIDE FLOUNCINGS AND BANDS TO MATCH

This is the class of embroideries that will be used for lingerie gowns and for trimming summer dresses and from present indications will be very hard to obtain later in the season. The flower and black pattern will be favored rather than the simple, more compact styles. Flouncings are from 18 to 45 inches wide, band from 4 to 8 inches, 50c to $2.00 a yard.

COLORED EMBROIDERIES AND INSERTIONS

The colored embroideries are very widely used in trimming wash dresses. Come in very good assortment of small neat patterns in pink, light blue and navy, 2 to 4 inches wide, 12 1/2c to 25c a yard.

BABY IRISH EMBROIDERY INSERTION ON BATISTE.

This style of embroidery closely simulating Baby Irish lace, is very much in demand, being in the bold open-work patterns, very serviceable in regard to wearing and washing. Has the new hexagon mesh which is finding much favor, in all styles of trimmings, 2 to 4 inches wide, 30c to $1 yd.

CORSET COVER EMBROIDERY

In Swiss, nainsook or Hamburg, beaded edge, 18 inches wide, 25c to $1.00 yard.

PANEL INSERTIONS

Fine Swiss in both the bold open-work patterns and also in the more simple compact styles, 2 1/2 to 5 inches wide, 40c to 75c yard.

EMBROIDERED SWISS WAIST FRONTINGS

This style of embroidery is 2 inches wide with wide embroidered band down the center with narrower bands at the side, leaving a space for tucking. Comes in white or colored with insertion to match, $1.00 to $3.50 per yard.

ALLOVER EMBROIDERIES

We have a large assortment of allover. Most everything anybody could desire can be found here. In small, conventional floral or dot designs, also in the larger more open patterns on Swiss, nainsook or Hamburg, 18 to 22 inches wide, 50c to $4 a yard.

EMBROIDERED BEADINGS

In Swiss and nainsook, plain with seaming edge in various designs and fancy, suitable for corset cover straps and trimming children's dresses, 10c to 40c a yard.

SPECIAL

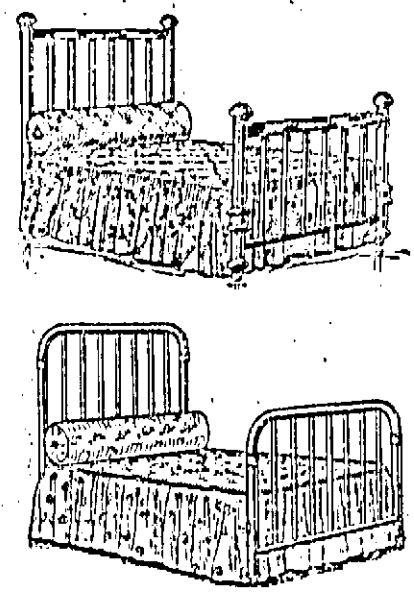

A special lot that demands attention is 12 inch Hamburg Flouncing in beautiful patterns, very suitable for white underskirts where the wearing quality becomes a factor. An exceptionally good value at 35c a yd.

HERE ARE A FEW BRASS BEDS

that are sure to catch the eye of people who love simplicity of design, combined with harmonious symmetrical lines and elegance of finish. We pride ourselves upon the excellent variety of our display. Something good for every taste and purse.

193 MEN AND ONE WOMAN
RESCUED FROM A SHIP

Fear-Maddened Italians Fight to Get Into Boats When the Columbia Sinks.

Seattle, Wash., May 25.—Stories of suffering and heroism, seldom exceeded, are told in dispatches from Seward, Alaska, where the steamer Dora has arrived with 194 survivors of the wrecked ship Columbia.

Following the grounding in a blinding snowstorm, eight miles east of Unalakleet, Pass on the night of April 30, the experiences of the passengers and crew of the Columbia were harrowing in the extreme.

There was no wind at the time, but a terrible surf was raging from a storm on the previous night. On the vessel were 63 Italians, 96 Japanese and 45 Americans and Scandinavians. All, including the Japanese, were passive and obedient in the face of danger, save the Italians, who in panic raved and prayed. A boat was lowered, and the Italians, including their bosses, poured in. The Italians attempted to seize two more boats, but were restrained at the point of guns.

At daylight the feasibility of a surf landing was established and boats were given to the Italians, who, permitted to depart, rowed eight miles to Scotch Cape lighthouse. It took two days later for provisions they were again compelled with rowers to take only food and refrain from looking.

Two former life-saving men, Christ Christopherson and Ernest Anderson, insisted they be allowed to proceed for shore alone in a diminutive skiff. They succeeded in establishing a lifeline to the shore.

Disembarking by means of the large fishboats, following the life line occupied 24 hours. Dr. Thrasher, the ship physician, worked continuously, revived the men capsize in the icy waters, of whom there were several. Many were nearly drowned, and it was in the resuscitation of these that the Japanese showed fine spirit. All the boats were smashed but one.

Only one woman, the Australian wife of Mate Cameron, was with the party.

On the morning of May 2 a storm caused the final abandonment of the wrecked Columbia. The same day the ship turned to the water's edge.

FLOODS RAGE IN OKLAHOMA.

Four Are Drowned and One Is Frightened to Death.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 25.—Five persons are dead, at least ten seriously injured, several thousand acres of crops are inundated, and every stream in the northern and eastern part of the state raging as a result of almost unprecedented rains in Oklahoma. Several houses have been washed away.

The dead are Mrs. W. W. Brown and three children of Parker and Mrs. Mattie Jones, negro. Mrs. Brown and her children were drowned in Salt creek while attempting to escape from high waters. Mrs. Jones dropped dead of fright when the waters of Doggy creek, near Enid, surrounded her home.

Railroad tracks near Shawnee, Holdenville, Tulsa, Pawnee, Muskogee, Vinita and Oklahoma City are in bad condition and sections of track are washed out. Bridges are unsafe along the Arkansas, Cimarron and Canadian rivers and traffic is generally delayed. A small tornado struck Morris, demolishing the Methodist church and several residences.

DEMAND LIFE OF PRISONER.

Iowa Mob May Hang Negro If Jury Fails to Act.

Centerville, Ia., May 25.—The town is filled with excited people who come to attend the trial of the negro, John Junkin, the self-confessed slayer of beautiful Clara Rosen, an Ottumwa cheer singer, on the night of February 6 last. The trial began this afternoon.

Talk of lynching has been heard and reports from Ottumwa are in town to make the necessary preparations to lynch Junkin if the jury should fail to inflict the death penalty. Sheriff Clark has stationed six special officers in the jail to protect the negro. A corps of sworn deputies with shotguns patrolled the streets to keep order.

DEDICATE MASONIC TEMPLE.

Indiana Lodge Men Claim Finest Building of Kind in Country.

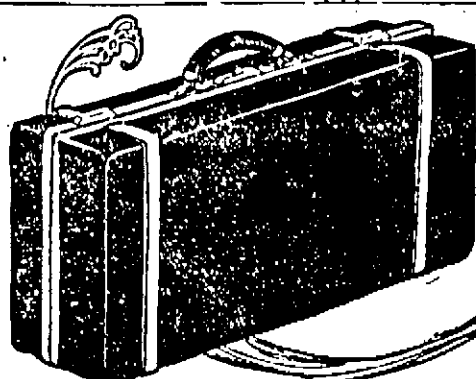

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—Masons of Indiana united today in dedicating the new $750,000 Masonic temple in this city, which, they declare, is the finest building devoted to Masonry in the world. The temple is built of steel and stone, four stories high. The interior fixtures are of beaten brass and bronze and the furniture, carpets and tapestry were especially made for the purpose. The temple contains two restaurants and many private dining rooms and is topped by a roof garden, and its equipment for the exaltation of Masonry is most elaborate.

The BLACK BAG

Heart in his mouth, he stepped back, lowering the lamp, which implacably went out, and lifting a protecting forearm.

"Who's that?" he demanded harshly. A struggled sob of terror answered him, uttered by a swift rush of sobs, and in a breath his shattered nerves quieted and a glimmer of common sense penetrated the murky anger and fear had bred in his brain. He understood and stepped forward, cowering blindly at the darkness with eager hands.

"Miss Calendar!" he cried guardedly. "Miss Calendar, it is I—Philip Kirkwood!"

There was a second sob, of another caliber than the first. Thin fingers brushed his, and a hand, warm and fragile, closed upon his own in a passion of relief and gratitude.

"Oh, I am so glad!" It was Dorothy Calendar's voice, beyond mistake. "I didn't know what to think. When the light struck your face I was sure it was you, but when I called you answered in a voice so strange—not like yours at all. Tell me," she pleaded, with palpable effort to steady herself, "what has happened?"

"I think, perhaps," said Kirkwood unhesitatingly, again troubled by his racing impulses—"perhaps you can do this better than I."

"Oh," said the voice gently. Her fingers trembled on his and were gently withdrawn. "I was so frightened," she confessed after a little pause, "so frightened that I hardly understand. But you—how did you?"

"I worried about you," he replied in a tone absurdly apologetic. "Somehow it didn't seem right. It was none of my business, of course, but I couldn't help coming back. This fellow, whoever he is—don't worry, he's unconscious—slipped into the house in a manner that seemed to me suspicious. I hardly know why I followed, except that he left the door an open invitation to interference."

"I can't be thankful enough," she told him warmly, "that you did interfere. You have indeed saved me from—"

"Yes?"

"I don't know what. If I knew the man—"

"You don't know him?"

"I can't even guess. The light—"

She paused inquiringly. Kirkwood fumbled with the lamp; but whether his rude handling had impaired some vital part of the mechanism or whether the batteries through much use were worn out, he was able to elicit only one feeble glow, which was instantly smothered by the darkness.

"It's no use," he confessed. "The thing's gone wrong."

"Have you a match?"

"I used my last before I got hold of this."

"Oh!" she commented, discouraged. "Have you any notion what he looks like?"

Kirkwood thought briefly. "Raffish," he replied with a chuckle. "He looks like an amateurish and very callow raffish. He's in dress clothes, you know."

"I wonder!" There was a nuance of profound bewilderment in her exclamation, then: "He knocked against something in the hall—a chair, I presume. At all events, I heard that and put out the light. I was in the room above the drawing-room, you see. I stole down to this floor—was there, in the corner by the stairs when he passed within six inches and never guessed it. Then, when he got on the next floor, I started on, but you came in. I slipped into the drawing room and crouched behind a chair. You went on, but I dared not move until—"

"And then I heard some one cry out, and you fell down the stairs together. I hope you were not hurt."

"Nothing worth mention. But he must have got a pretty stiff knock to lay him out so completely." Kirkwood stared the body with his too, but the man made no sign. "Dead to the world. And now, Miss Calendar?"

If she answered he did not hear, for on the heels of his query banged the knocker down below, and thereafter crash followed crash, brewing a deep and sullen thundering to rouse the echoes and send them rolling, like voices of enraged ghosts, through the lonely rooms.

CHAPTER V.

"WHAT'S that?" At the first alarm the girl had caught convulsively at Kirkwood's arm. Now, when a pause came in the growling of the knocker, she made him hear her voice, and with a threat of hysteria, "Oh, what can it mean?"

"I don't know," he told a bold ray.

assuringly over that which trembled on his forehead. "The police possibly."

"Police?" she repeated, against. "What makes you think?"

"A man tried to stop me at the door," he answered quickly. "I got in before he could. When he tried the knocker a lobby came along and stopped him. The latter may have been watching the house since then. I'd be only his duty to keep an eye on it, and heaven knows we raised a racket, coming head first down those stairs. Now you are up against it," he added brightly.

But the girl was tugging at his hand. "Come!" she begged breathlessly. "Come! There is a way! Before they break in!"

"But this man?" Kirkwood hugged back, troubled.

"They—the police—are sure to find and care for him."

"So they will," he chuckled. "And serve him right! He'd have choked me to death, with all the good will in the world!"

"Oh, do hurry!"

Turning, she sped light footed down the staircase to the lower hall, he at her elbow. Here the uproar was loudest, deep enough to drown whatever sounds might have been made by two pairs of flying feet. For all that, they fled on tiptoe, stealthily, guilty shadows in the night, and at the next post swung back into the unbroken blackness which surrounded the fastnesses backward of the dwelling. A sudden access of fury on the part of the alarmist at the knocker spurred them on with quaking hearts. In half a dozen strides, Kirkwood, guided only by instinct and the front-front of the girl's skirts as she ran invisible before him, stumbled on the uppermost steps of a steep staircase. Only a hand rail saved him, and that at the last moment. He stopped short, shocked into caution. From below came a contralto whisper: "I'm so sorry! I should have warned you."

He pulled himself together, glaring wildly at nothing. "It's all right."

"You're not hurt, truly? Oh, do come quickly!"

She waited for him at the bottom of the flight—happily for him, for he was all at sea.

"Here—your hand—let me guide you. This darkness is dreadful."

He found her hand somehow and tucked his into it confidently and not without an uncertain thrill of satisfaction.

"Come!" she panted. "Come! If they break in—"

Stilled by apprehension, her voice failed her.

They went forward, now less impetuously, for it was very black and the knocker had fallen still.

"No fear of that," he remarked after a time. "They wouldn't dare break in."

A fluttering whisper answered him: "I don't know. We dare risk nothing."

They seemed to explore, to penetrate, across of labyrinthine chambers and passages, delving deep into the bowels of the earth, like rabbits burrowing in a warren, hounded by beatings.

Above stairs the hush continued unbroken, as if the dumb genius of the place had cast a spell of silence on the knocker or else, outraged, had smitten the noisy disturber with a palsy.

The girl seemed to know her way. Whether guided by familiarity or by intuition, she led on without hesitation. Kirkwood blundering in her wake between confusion of impression and dawning dismay, conscious of but one tangible thing, to which he clung as to his hope of salvation—those firm, friendly fingers that clasped his own.

It was as if they wandered on for an hour. Probably from start to finish their flight took up three minutes—no more. Eventually the girl stopped, releasing his hand. He could hear her syncretized breathing before him and gathered that something was wrong. He took a step forward.

"What is it?"

Her full voice broke out of the obscurity startlingly close in his very ear. "The door—the bolts—I can't budge them."

"Let me."

He pressed forward, brushing her shoulder. She did not draw away, but willingly yielded place to his hands at the fastenings, and what had proved impossible to her to his strong fingers was a matter of comparative ease. Yet, not entirely consciously, he was not quick. As he tugged at the bolts he was painfully sensitive to the subtle warmth of her at his side. He could hear her soft, dry sob of excitement and suspense punctuating the quiet and was frightened absolutely by an impulse, too strong for ridicule, to take her in his arms and comfort her with the assurance that whatever her trouble, he would stand by her and protect her. It was futile to try to laugh it off. He gave over the endeavor. Even at this critical moment he found himself repeating over and over to his heart the question: "Can this be love? Can this be love?"

Could it be love at an hour's acquaintance? Absurd! But he could not laugh nor render himself insensible to the suggestion.

He found that he had drawn the bolts. The girl tugged and rattled at the knob. Reluctantly the door opened inward. Beyond its threshold stretched ten feet or more of covered passageway whose entrance framed an oblong glimmering with light. A drift of fresh air smote their faces. Behind them a door banged.

"Where does this open?"

"On the mezz," she informed him. "The mezz?" He stared in consternation at the pallid oval that stood for her face. "The mezz! But you, in your evening gown, and I—"

"There's no other way. We must chance it. Are you afraid?"

"Afraid!" He stepped aside. She slipped by him and on. He closed the door, carefully removing the key and locking it on the outside, then joined the girl at the entrance to the mezz, where they paused perforce, she as much disconcerted as he, his primary objection momentarily waxing in force as they surveyed the conditions circumscribing their escape.

Quadrant mezz was busily engaged in enjoying itself. Night had fallen sultry and humid, and the walls and doorsteps were well fringed and clustered with representatives of that class of London's population which infests mezz through habit, taste or force of circumstance.

Over against the entrance wherein Kirkwood and the girl lurked, commanded by the problem of escaping undetected, through this vicious scene, a stable door stood wide, exposing a dimly illumined interior. Before it waited a four wheeler, horse already hitched in between the shafts, while its driver, a man of leisurely turn of mind, made lingering inspection of straps and harness, and, while Kirkwood watched him, turned attention to the carriage lamps.

The match which he raked spiritedly down his thigh flared rudely. The succeeding pulsing glow of the lamp threw into relief a heavy beefy man with shining boxes for cheeks and nose and chin. Through narrow slits two cunning eyes glittered like diamond gems. Kirkwood appraised him with attention as one in whose gross carcass was embodied their only hope of unannoyed return to the streets and normal surroundings of their world. The difficulty lay in attracting the man's attention, and engaging him without arousing his suspicions or bringing the population about their ears. Though he hesitated long, no favorable opportunity presented itself, and in time the John approached the box, with the ostensible purpose of mounting and driving off. In this critical situation the American, forced to recognize that boldness must mark his course, took the girl's fate and his own in his hands, and with a quick word to his companion, stepped out of hiding.

The cabby had a foot upon the step when Kirkwood tapped his shoulder.

Righting International Misconception.

Slowly but surely those misconceptions which war against the international entente cordiale are being dissolved in the clear light of truth. The fact has just been given wide currency on this side that the French are not a race of frog eaters. We may live to see the time when it will be understood in that portion of Paris lying north of the Place de l'Opera that the eating of yolk for breakfast is not de rigueur in America west of the morbidly an passing through Greenwich, Conn.

ALL UNSTRUNG.

Many Janesville People Suffer From Nervous Troubles and Don't Know Why.

Thousands of cases of kidney trouble show few outward symptoms except nervousness, depression, languor, irritability and an inclination to worry over trifles. It is generally due to the poisonous action of uric acid on blood and nerves, and can't be cured except by curing the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure these ills by curing the kidneys. Janesville women are learning it. Here's a local case.

Mrs. James Plantz, 263 S. Bluff St., Janesville, Wis., says: "For some time I felt miserable. My health was much run down and I was nervous at times. Upon examination my kidneys were found to be weak. I then decided to try a kidney tonic and procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the People's Drug Co. I took them as directed and can say I am very much pleased with the results obtained. I am feeling so much better that I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as an excellent kidney remedy."

Performed Two Ceremonies. A marriage in England, with two coronets, attracted some interest. The bridegroom was Charles Cooper, who has long been associated with the ethical movement in England. The mother of the bride objected to only the civil marriage and he objected to a marriage in a church. So in the morning the civil marriage was performed and in the afternoon an ethical marriage at the home of the bride. The vows taken were the same as those taken by persons married in the orthodox way, and the ethical phase was not very evident.
